Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 29 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Remaining rather chilly and showery into the weekend.

Today:
Often rather cloudy as showers feed in from the coast, possibly some hail in heavier bursts and wintry over the highest ground. However, there will also be bright or sunny spells in-between. Feeling chilly in the northerly breeze. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:
Some dry, clear spells but further showers will continue to feed in from the coast. A touch of frost likely with any lengthier clearer spells. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Friday:
Bright or sunny spells but also showers, locally heavy, and wintry over highest ground. Still feeling chilly, although generally light winds. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Probably cloudier Saturday, especially near the coast, with showers. Sunday, sunny spells and showers. Chilly with overnight frost possible. Monday, rain and strong winds spreading from the west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.